Zur Edition

Hauptquelle für die Edition ist die Originalausgabe OA. Sie beruht auf der von Beethoven selbst durchgesehenen Abschrift AB, enthält aber gegenüber AB zahlreiche Korrekturen, Ergänzungen und Änderungen. Auch wenn sich nicht beweisen lässt, dass Beethoven den Drucklegungsvorgang überwacht oder gar betreut hat, liegt der Gedanke daran angesichts einiger signifikanter Abweichungen von OA gegenüber AB nahe. OA bietet daher einen optimierten Text und repräsentiert zugleich eine andere Fassung (vgl. Vorwort).

Da OA weder fehlerfrei noch ohne Widersprüche ist, wird in allen Fällen, in denen intentional Übereinstimmung zwischen den Quellen herrscht, AB mit herangezogen. Entscheidungen gegen OA stützen sich also, sofern nicht anders begründet, auf AB. Zeichen in runden Klammern stellen Ergänzungen des Herausgebers dar. Geringfügige Abweichungen einzelner Stimmen in Bezeichnung und Positionierung von Dynamik werden (als ein für die Überlieferung in Stimmen typischer Fehler) stillschweigend gemäß den anderen Stimmen korrigiert.

Zur weiteren Information, insbesondere zu den Varianten von AB, siehe den Kritischen Bericht in: Beethoven Werke, Abteilung VI, Bd. 1, Kammermusik mit Blasinstrumenten, hrsg. von Egon Voss, München 2008, S. 347–351.

Sources

- C Copy reviewed by Beethoven, parts. Bonn, Beethoven-Haus, Sammlung H. C. Bodmer, shelfmark HCB Mh 58. 35 leaves in upright format, 64 written pages: 11 pages each for vn 1, 2, va, vc, hn 2; 9 pages for hn 1. Each 1st page bears only the name of the part; last page empty. Later leaf numbering by another hand. vn 1, 1st page, added by Beethoven: Sestetto | da | L. v. Beethoven. Most slurs, dots and dynamic markings added later, presumably in Beethoven's hand. The copy served as the engraver's copy for the original edition.
- OE Original edition, parts. Bonn, N. Simrock, plate number 706, published in spring or summer 1810. About this edition

The primary source for our publication is the original edition OE. It is based on the copy C which was personally examined by Beethoven, but contains many corrections, additions and alterations in comparison to C. Even if it is impossible to prove that Beethoven supervised or was even responsible for the printing process itself, it seems plausible in view of some significant divergences in OE with respect to C. OE thus offers an optimised text while offering a different version at the same time (see Preface).

Since OE is neither free of errors nor without inconsistencies, C has been consulted in all cases in which there is intentional agreement between the sources. Decisions contrary to readings in OE are thus based on C, inasmuch as they are not otherwise legitimated. Markings in parentheses represent additions made by the editor. Slight divergences in individual parts with respect to the marking and positioning of dynamics (a typical error for the transmission in parts) have been tacitly corrected in agreement with the other parts.

For further information, in particular on the variants from C, see the Critical Report in: Beethoven Werke, section VI, vol. 1, Kammermusik mit Blasinstrumenten, ed. by Egon Voss, Munich, 2008, pp. 347–351.
